Job Ref: Product Intern at Uptake

To whom it may concern,

I am very interested at working at Uptake as a Product Intern for the winter season and believe that my education and experiences are appropriate for the position.

I am currently a senior at Northwestern University majoring in Radio/TV/Film at the School of Communications and find myself being more interested in digital design, which is why I'm currently pursuing a design certificate here at the Segal Design Institute. I currently work as a graphic designer at the Student Affairs Marketing office at one of the main student centers on campus. My job entails designing different types of media (flyers, posters, postcards, etc.) to publicize events for clients within our school, which include many student and staff departments.

Within this department, I not only have to work independently but also with other workers who have similar jobs. I feel that I have adjusted well to the work environment as we are a group of workers who give and receive feedback on each other's work. This was also a job where I had to learn how to use certain types of software and I believe that I was fairly competent in picking up these new skills, which I apply greatly to my work.

I also took part in a full-stack design program in Chicago called DESIGNATION. Within the program, I was able to learn skills within UX, UI, and Front-End Development but found myself leaning more towards UI and Front-End Dev. These skills were implemented by working with real-world clients on a variety of design projects. I hope to further the skills I've learned by working at an experienced company like Uptake.

I'm a very hard worker individually and in groups, adapt fairly quickly, and am always willing to learn new skills. I have strong belief in my attention to detail and am very organized. I believe that I can bring a lot to the your work environment as well as grow a lot by developing my skills in design.

Thank you so much for your consideration and I look forward to your response.

Best,

Jimmy Yoon
